Celebrate Cozy Wednesdays with Sullivan's Crossing on The CW!

Sullivan's Crossing is a series about healing, letting go and ultimately opening yourself up to a world of new opportunities. When Maggie Sullivan's (Morgan Kohan) life is thrown into turmoil, she is forced to leave her career in Boston – as well as her boyfriend, Andrew – to take refuge in Sullivan's Crossing, the campground run by her estranged father, Sully Sullivan (Scott Patterson). There, she must navigate her complicated present while confronting her painful past. When she meets Cal Jones (Chad Michael Murray), the mysterious stranger who is helping her father, the two hit it off like oil and water. Eventually, Cal starts to grow on Maggie, which only complicates things further as she must choose between a life in Boston and one in Sullivan's Crossing.
